COMPUTER KNOWLEDGE

---

Knowledge on C

I have a strong knowledge of C programming language. I can perform various programming using function available in different c libraries and understand the concept of pointers in C. I have been learning C from my high school.

Knowledge on Python

I have good knowledge of Python programming. I have completed Harvard's cs50 p course which specially focuses on python programming for beginners and intermediates. Although I haven't received a certificate for that course as the course certificate costs a substantial amount which I cannot afford but I can assure you I have a strong base in python programming.

INTERESTS

I am interested in various fields like mathematics, fine art, photography and much more. I have a small but very impressive portfolio of photographs I have taken in my Instagram account. I also very much love interacting with people and working with them. Travelling is another one of my passion. Although I am not well travelled I hope to travel a lot in coming days.
